

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

An office chair castor includes a base, two castor bodies, two beads bases, and two set of beads. The beads of the two sets of beads positioned in portion grooves of the two beads bases are also rotatably positioned in both the grooves of the two projecting annular walls of the base and the grooves of the two castor bodies, permitting the mutual contact dimension of the base and the two castor bodies become small to cause small friction, which may produce little noise and may let the castor bodies not to be stuck but rotate smoothly.
